WIELDS KNIFE IN PRISON

Fellow Convict Slashes Leo Frank's throat.

Doctors Stop Flow of Blood From Wound Made by Butcher Knife.

Milledgeville, Ga., July 18.—Leo M. Frank lay in the Georgia State prison hospital tonight with what attendants said was a fighting chance for recovery. Physicians had succeeded in stopping the flow of blood from a jagged wound in his throat made with a butcher knife in the hands of William Green, a fellow-convict also serving a life term for murder. The blow was struck as Frank slept in his bunk in a dormitory late last night.

An investigation of the attack probably will be concluded by the Georgia Prison Commission, the same body that refused to recommend that Frank's death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan be commuted to life imprisonment. Reports from Atlanta were that Gov. Harris intimated today he would start such an investigation to ascertain if Green acted entirely of his own volition. Green said today, when taken from solitary confinement long enough to be questioned, that he planned the attack alone and that no one knew what he intended to do. He was not communicative today and gave as his only excuse that "he thought it should be done." He said, however, he regretted his act.

Frank was quartered at night in a dormitory with about one hundred other prisoners and occupied a bunk about forty feet from one of the two doors to the large room. Green's bunk was fourth from his. No prisoner is allowed to leave his place without permission from one of the two guards stationed at the dormitory at night. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night Green called out for permission to get up and it was granted.

He started down the line of bunks toward the one occupied by Frank. As he reached it, he quickly grabbed Frank by the hair and delivered one blow with the knife he had concealed. A guard rushed to the bunk and prevented Green from striking again.

Among prisoners who rushed to Frank's aid were two physicians one of whom was serving a life term for murder. They gave first aid and treated the wound until Dr. Guy Compton the prison physician was summoned from his home a half mile away. The three men took 25 stitches in Frank's neck. Dr. H. J. Rosenberg, the Frank family physician, arrived from Atlanta today with nurses. He said that while the patient's condition was precarious he had a chance for life.

Mrs. Frank was in Milledgeville at the home of J. M. Burns. She was not told of the attack until after the physicians had finished their work. She became hysterical, but later was calmed and was taken to the prison hospital.

The cut extends from the front of the neck around the left side to almost the middle of the back of the neck. Neither the wind pipe nor the spinal cords is hurt, but the jugular vein is partly severed. The physicians greatest fear tonight was that some of the stitches might slip causing more loss of blood.

Frank has benefitted a great deal by the outdoor life since being brought to the farm June 21. "The small man, he always has had a rugged constitution and that coupled with his exercise of the last three weeks are in his favor the doctors said. He took some nourishment today.

Frank knew of the demonstrations against the action of Gov. Stator, whose term recently expired, in commuting his sentence and also of threats to take him from the prison by force. Those who reached his side first after he was wounded believe he had all this in mind when he said:

"I guess they got me now."

After Frank's wounds had been dressed, he turned to the physician and asked: "Am I going to die?" "We don't know," said George P. Compton, prison physician. "You are in a serious condition and will have to be quiet."

"If I am going to die," replied Frank, "I am not afraid. Nothing stands between me and God. I hope the man who attacked me will be forgiven."

Green was sentenced from Columbus, Ga., for killing a man named Kitchen. Shortly after the crime a jury inquired into his sanity, but declared him sane. Saturday he was helping to kill hogs with other prisoners. He concealed in his clothing the knife he used in the butchering and later it is believed secreted it in his bunk.

Tonight it was announced that Frank's temperature was 99, his pulse good, and that he was in no immediate danger.

Joker in One-Term Plank of Democrats.

Washington, July 18.—Reports that former Secretary of State William J. Bryan would demand that respect be given to the one-term pledge of the Baltimore convention have been based, it is said, on statements which Mr. Bryan is reputed to have made to friends. It is recalled that during the last campaign he laid stress in many speeches on the one-term plank.

Whatever Bryan decides to do, it is sure that in certain Democratic quarters, where peace is regarded as highly desirable from a party standpoint, stress will be laid upon the actual language of that plank.

It reads: "We favor a single presidential term, and to that end we urge the adoption of an amendment to the constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for re-election and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle."

As commonly interpreted the candidate of the convention was pledged to retirement after a single term in office; a strict reading of the plank, aside from interpretations given it during the 1912 campaign, may indicate that the pledge is to the principle of a constitutional amendment and that until such an amendment is adopted Democratic Presidents are free to do as they please. If this latter interpretation is permitted the President is free to do as he pleases.

Independent newspapers and magazines over the country are almost unanimous in the opinion that Bryan's resignation from the cabinet was a political move pure and simple, looking toward 1916.

A number, too, have commented upon the President's ready acceptance of the resignation. Following as it did on the heels of an almost open campaign to embarrass Bryan, this acceptance "appears to be a realization of Wilson's idea that Bryan ought to be knocked once and for all into a cocked hat."

What lends color to the belief that Wilson was immensely satisfied with Bryan's resignation is the publication of Wilson's view of the qualifications for a successful secretary of state:

"To be a successful secretary of state," Wilson is said to have remarked, "one must be a hard thinking man, must possess high dignity, willingness to abide by sound precedent, and to abide by the will of chief and country."

If these views are held by the President, the commenting journals remark, it is readily apparent that Bryan to be secretary of state that the Nebraska would not fill the bill. With 1916 already on the horizon Wilson saw a chance not only to eliminate Bryan from national politics and as a factor in the 1916 race for the presidency but also at the same time to throw himself into the national spotlight.

Dye Experts Coming to America.

Washington, July 19.—Importation of a corps of Swiss dyestuff chemists to aid in the development of the new American coal tar dye industry is the latest project of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in its effort to meet the American dyestuff famine resulting from the cutting off of the German supply.

A combination of Swiss technical skill, American capital and the vast American supply of coal tar would be of "untold value" in developing the new American industry, according to a statement by Dr. Thomas H. Norton, of the bureau.

STINGING ANSWER TO SEC. M'ADOO

Fling At the Republican Party Is Completely Refuted.

Writing to a Democratic club in New York State, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo takes occasion to make this fling at the Republican party:

It is only through national disaster that the Republican party and the selfish interests that dominate its hope for success. Every utterance and every action of Republican leaders convicts them of wanting to prevent prosperity in order to gain control of the Government. This once great party, the alleged champion of business, is trying to destroy business to gain its ends. It is a sorry spectacle and failure is its inevitable reward.

The Republican party came into existence as the champion of emancipated labor as against shackled labor; as the pronounced advocate of enlarged commercial activity in opposition to those who believed in buying abroad to supply the needs of vast landed estates tilled by those who held in bondage. It has always believed in a constructive financial policy, which would insure stable business conditions. It has always advocated a Protective Tariff which would insure a high scale of wages for American labor and enable the American workman to live in comfort. It has always insisted on a sound currency, and it saved the country from a deluge of greenbacks and a flood of diluted silver. It created a banking system which retired a vast amount of wild-cat paper money, and the best features of the present reserve system were taken from legislative measures which had their origin in the brains and labors of Republican legislators.

There is abundant evidence that the people of the country understand these things. They realize that the whole trend of the Democratic party is away from prosperity, and toward the foreign producer; that its entire fiscal policy rests upon the assumption that America should cultivate the markets of the world without regard to its own; that in a visionary chase after a "larger liberty" it loses sight of the skill and ingenuity of American labor as it is thrown in competition with those who live in an entirely different atmosphere and on a plane which no American wishes to substitute for his own.

The Republican party has never been and is not now, a calamity howler. But it believes the Free-Trade policy of the Democratic party is a mistake and that, sooner or later, an unwise fiscal policy will hurt American prosperity. This was amply demonstrated by the blight which the Underwood Tariff measure brought upon the country. Everywhere it caused the cessation of labor. Those in the shops and in the fields felt its depressing influence. It threw its baneful harm over the great manufacturing plants and into the smallest shops. When the fall elections came on last year the people went to the polls and registered their emphatic disapproval of the blow which had been struck at labor and capital. And they feel precisely the same way to-day.

It is true the European war has provided us with orders for materials consumed in the greatest tragedy in the history of the world; it is true importations are checked because of the interference with shipping, and our markets are thus saved from collapse. But it is just as true that the day is coming when we will need the influence of a Protective Tariff, and when the country will understand that it must return to the constructive, wise and resourceful statesmanship of the Republican party. For precisely at those times when the United States has made its greatest advances, and its people have been most contented and happy, the Republican party has been in power. And every election since the Democrats came into office because of Republican divisions, emphasizes anew the fact that the people are only waiting to elect a Republican Congress and a Republican President.

MAY RETURN THE WAR TAX

Carelessness In Drawing Law Gives Corporations Chance.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Every dollar of the hundreds and thousands paid by trust companies to the government under the provisions of the "war tax" law may have to be returned because of Democratic carelessness.

Practically every trust company in the United States which has paid, under protest, the tax provided by paragraph 1 of section 3 of the "war tax" is preparing to litigate the right of the government to collect. Test cases have already been brought in various federal courts. The foundation for these suits was laid by the Democrats through an apparent oversight in drafting the law.

The oversight lay in the failure to properly define "bankers." The blunder is emphasized by the fact that but a few months before the "war tax" was levied, the Democratic Congress had appropriated thousands of dollars to pay back to trust companies a refund ordered by federal courts following litigation on the same question.

Section 3 of the "war tax" declares that bankers "shall pay $1 for every $1,000 of capital used or employed." It then defines who shall be termed a "banker" under the act. The definition of a "banker" is identical with that which the federal courts but a short time before held inadequate to render trust companies liable to such a tax.

The Democrats had ample warning. The language of the federal court's decision conclusively showed that "banker" must be more adequately defined to include trust companies.

"In the case at bar," said the decision, "the plaintiff is not a bank or banker, and though it does some of the things enumerated in the section as indicative of such business, its principal business seems to be distinctively that of a trust company."

The court further points out that the resources on which the tax was collected and ordered returned were "invested in municipal and railroad bonds and in the stocks of corporations." The Internal Revenue Office has required trust companies to pay the tax upon this class of securities, and in the cases now pending claim for recovery is based on the allegation that the securities taxed are invested "in municipal and railway bonds and in the stocks of corporations."

Whether or not the trust companies are successful in their proceedings, the fact remains that Democratic blundering is responsible for this expensive litigation, which adds tremendously to the cost of administering the law and may largely reduce revenues.

Like numerous other "jokers" in Democratic laws, these miscellaneous errors exist only because of wholesale disregard of elementary principles of legislation.

Wanted to Play Role of a Hero.

Reading, Pa., July 19.—Harry F. Westbrook, who last week went to a Pennsylvania railroad tower near Altoon, Pa., with a piece of pipe containing twenty sticks of dynamite and said that he had found the explosives on the tracks, was arrested here late last night, and today, according to the police, he confessed he had invented the scheme in the hope of getting a reward.

Westbrook, in his confession, according to the police, said he had conceived the idea after reading of the exploits of Frank Holt. He made the bomb at his home here, the police said. It contained enough dynamite to destroy a city block.

PLEASANT GROVE.

July 19.—The heavy rains and wind storms here last week did considerable damage to the growing crops. The farmers are getting along very slow threshing wheat. J. W. Tuttle went to Askins Saturday on business.

There was a large crowd at the Republican speaking Thursday night at Shreve. The speakers were: Messrs. Carl M. Taylor, Col. P. Keown Otto C. Martin, L. L. Embry, Albert Lench and John H. Thomas.

Mr. Charlie Hsre, wife and children, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. A. Harrison, of near Barretts Ferry, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Bethel Shrader began school here at Shreve Monday, July 12, with a large number of scholars. Miss Nannie Hedden has typhoid fever.

Mr. Willie Davisson moved to J. W. Shreve's farm. Mrs. Spencer moved to Fordsville.

Those on the sick list are Mrs. R. C. Carter and Mr. Charlie Davidson. Mr. George Debruler, wife and son, Vernon, visited his brother, Joe, Sunday near Fordsville.

Slays Man Who Criticized Her Dogs.

Danville, Ky., July 19.—Robert Crouch was shot and instantly killed last evening by Mrs. Hattie Henson, wife of Robert Henson. The tragedy occurred on the pavement in front of the Henson home, on Second street. It appears that Mrs. Henson had been away from home and left some dogs fastened up which howled so much that neighbors were unable to sleep.

Crouch and other neighbors remonstrated with Mrs. Henson, the outcome being the death of Crouch. Crouch was about forty-five years old, and Mrs. Henson probably fifty. Mrs. Henson was arrested and placed in jail.

HON. W. S. DEAN.

The Hon. W. S. Dean, who is making the race for the Republican nomination for Representative from Ohio county, was born in Breckenridge county, September 29, 1863. He was born on a farm in a log cabin, which is said to very much resemble the type from which Abraham Lincoln sprang. He spent his boyhood on the farm and until he was 32 years of age. In 1895 he married an Ohio county girl, Miss Annie Renfrow, daughter of Mr. Virgil Renfrow, of Dundee. The same year he moved to Dundee, Ohio county and for twenty years has devoted his time to farming, stock raising and the milling business. His stand for moral, social and material improvement has made him a power in his community.

In 1905 he was nominated by the Republicans for Magistrate in his district and served a four year term with great credit and satisfaction to all the people of the county. In 1909 he was nominated and elected Representative and served one term. His record in that position is clean and an honorable one. The record shows that he was always at his post when the roll was called and no vote can be found against the interest of the people.

He did not stand for re-election, but in 1913 his people again demanded that he represent them in the Fiscal Court, and he was nominated and elected to that important position and has proven faithful to his trust.

He now asks the Republicans of Ohio county to send him back to Frankfort this winter to represent the people in the House of Representatives. If given the nomination on August 7th, he promises strong support from many men who belong to the opposite party, in a winning fight in November.

DOMESTIC POLICY WILL DECIDE

Question on Which Wilson Will Stand or Fall.

Election In 1916 Will Not Be Decided on the European War.

If by any chance the European conflict should result in continuing our present Democratic administration for another four-year term, who, indeed, could then say that war is not an unmitigated curse?

We believe, however, that the American voter has penetrated the flimsy subterfuge by means of which the Free-Trade party hopes to gain an endorsement at the polls in 1916.

Unquestionably Congressman Mann was right when he said that President Wilson's only prestige is what the war has brought him, but there is no indication that this prestige will be sufficient to re-elect him.

While he is in office we will support him to a man in any dispute with foreign powers, but loyalty to the Stars and Stripes does not imply an obligation to pretend that we have come to regard the braying of the Democratic donkey as a new national emblem.

Nothing has occurred here or abroad to abridge our right to regulate our domestic affairs as the good judgment of the American electorate dictate.

To maintain a national solidarity in international matters it is not necessary that we should go on slaughtering enterprise, starving the working man; watering our shivered industrial gardens with the blood of Europe and depleting the Federal exchequer at a rate that must speedily produce bond issues or bankruptcy.

Our position before the world will be in no wise prejudiced by substituting a Republican President. Our national honor is not bound up in Woodrow Wilson, and it is highly presumptuous in his friends to attempt to create the impression that it is.

The situation today as concerning the next Presidential election is precisely what it has been ever since the fallacy of the Underwood Tariff-for-less-than-revenue law was demonstrated.

Those who supported the Free-Trade theory, right or wrong, will continue to vote for its candidates, and those who are satisfied that the doctrine is not compatible with American wage standards and American prosperity will vote against them.

With Republican unity and with the Democratic disunity presaged by the defection of ex-Premier Bryan, the prospect for a Protectionist view is very gratifying.

Republican Candidate for Speaker of the House.

Hon. A. J. Oliver, of Scottsville, Allen county, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for speaker of the next House of Representatives.

Mr. Oliver was given the nomination of his party in Allen county without opposition from the Democratic party, and it will be remembered that he has had many years experience as a legislator having served four years in the Senate and representing Allen county in the lower house at the last term. He was the nominee of the party for Secretary of State four years ago, and made an active canvass all over the State and is one of the best known leaders of the Republican party.

It looks like Republican victory is in the air and there is a possibility of electing a majority in the lower house and it is very necessary that the party have such leadership in that body as will be able to guard, not only the people, but the party also and there is not a man in the State who is in every way better qualified for this position than Mr. Oliver.

FRIDAY, JULY 23.

Even a single four year term is sometimes too long.

Democrats are now confessing that the free trade tariff measure is a failure.

To the man out of a job this "watchful waiting" for a prosperity, that is always just around the corner, must be tiresome.

If you want good roads in Ohio county, help make the Good Roads Association membership up to one thousand. This is the mark set by the officers.

It may be the duty of the party in power to connect the jobless man with the manless job, but how is it to be done when the jobs have all gone across the sea?

Why all this hot and laborious waste of words by Judges Birkhead and Glenn, Ringo and Tanner? "Boh" Stack will be elected Circuit Judge and Claude Smith Commonwealth's Attorney.

The candidacy of Mr. Earl Huntsman for Clerk Court of Appeals is very favorably considered by Ohio county Republicans. Allen county, the home of Mr. Huntsman, has always been a good friend to Ohio county politically.

It is a waste of time for the Democrats to raise the one term pledge on Wilson. There is not the least danger but what he will comply with the Baltimore platform, and only hold the Presidency one term. The voters will see to that.

Our Democratic friends used to charge that under a Republican tariff we were taxed "from the cradle to the grave." Well, the present Democratic tax laws go further than that. They have placed a tax on marriage license and on the necessary papers required to be filed in order to secure payment on a life insurance policy. That is some taxation, and begins before the cradle and extends beyond the grave.

Mr. Stanley has named several candidates whom he says he would like to have nominated along with him. Among others he names Mr. Edwards, of Louisville, son-in-law of the millionaire distiller James B. Wathen. No doubt, he would be a good man to have along on the Stanley ticket, when the cash is needed. However, what will all the other candidates say about this slate making by Mr. Stanley. We notice the name of our own "Gabe" Likens does not appear in the list of favored ones named by Mr. Stanley. Does Likens float too high and dry for the company?

The Owensboro Inquirer, which represents itself to be the chief support of A. O. Stanley in this district, let out a wall this week which looks mighty like it seeks defeat for its candidate. The Inquirer pretends to believe that the Republicans in their "strongholds" are going to ask for Democratic ballots in order to vote for McChesney and thus nominate for the Democrats a weak candidate. Hasn't the editor of the Inquirer sense enough to know this is impossible. Known Republicans, or persons registered other than Democrats, cannot vote a Democratic ballot in the primary, if objection is raised. Besides, in the Republican "strongholds" they have their own hot contests for the local offices, and will have no desire to vote in the Democratic primary anyway. Since Stanley has been so foolish as to name a slate for himself, there are many Republicans who do not regard McChesney as the weakest candidate by a long shot.

THE COMMON SCHOOLS.

The State per capita for the school year has been fixed at $5.25, the highest in the history of the common school system in Kentucky. Also the term is to be extended from six to seven months. This should be a great help both to teachers and school pupils. There is one condition which we believe should be corrected by the next Legislature affecting our common schools. Our schools begin too early. It may be better for the teacher to begin a school the first of July, but is it best for the boys on the farms who must help with the crop? Years ago the schools began October 1, or some times not until November 1. Then the teacher generally, if a man, also had to finish his crop, as well as the boy. Then the schools closed about April 1st, in time for planting on the farm. Now, they close before Christmas, and are so far advanced by the time many boys are released from the tobacco crop and corn gathering, that they do not consider it worth while to start in far behind their classes. Besides the hot months of July and August should not be used for school work. It is an absolute punishment to children to be cooped up in doors at a time which all civilization recognizes as vacation time. When old and young have an irresistible desire for the out door life and when good health demands it. Why should the country school house be vacant during the winter days of January, February and March, when the mind responds more readily than in the long, hot, drowsy days of July and August? At a time when the boys can very rarely find anything to do on the farm. Start the schools not sooner than September, and give the boys a chance.

KENTUCKY, OH, KENTUCKY!

Are there any unselfish, upright Democrats, who know why they are Democrats, left in Kentucky? If there are, they had better be getting to the front; they had better begin to hestle themselves; because all of Democracy that is visible to the naked eye seems to be a greasy and tattered poster labeled "Democracy" nailed to a hurling of faction-fighting candidates for office who are much too busy with their own aggrais to concern themselves about the party, which, under these conditions, is riding through the Primaries for a fall in the Election.

The day fixed for the primaries is but three weeks away. Between this and the day of the election less than three months intervene. The Republicans are substantially united. Is there disinterestedness enough in Democracy outside the riot of self-seeking to save the final day.

Such an aspect in the contemplation were bad enough. But there is in the immediate present yet another aspect which is still worse. An honest Democracy rooted in Democratic principles could stand and survive defeat—Many defeats. Democracy divided by factions and debauched by misleading were not worth saving. That peril at this moment most seriously menaces Democracy in Kentucky.—Mr. Waterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

From the above wall it would seem that the almost certain election of a Republican State ticket in Kentucky this fall leads Mr. Waterson to declare that Democracy is not worth saving. Let us hope it may not be so bad, Colonel. The State has gone Republican just half the time in the last twenty years. Democracy may survive the coming defeat. She does not deserve to win now.

DIDN'T PUBLISH THE NEWS.

Last Friday night Messrs. Ringo and Tanner, the Democratic candidates for Commonwealth's Attorney, pulled off the warmest meeting at the court house, in Owensboro, in all the political history of Daviess county. The meeting had been advertised by Mr. Tanner, as his appointment and "for men only." Inviting Mr. Ringo to be present. There are two alleged daily "newspapers" published in the city of Owensboro. We are informed that both of them had representatives present, but, strange to say, not one word about this meeting appeared in either newspaper (?) We all have some idea as to what a meeting for "men only" means. We are informed that these candidates hurled the hottest shot, represented by the English language, and backed by numerous affidavits. The debate abounded in charges and counter charges during which the lie was passed back and forth, time and again. The entire city police force was called out but was unable to cope with the situation. A messenger was dispatched to Camp Tandy Ellis to ask aid from the State Guard, but some one at this juncture thought of the Fire Department, and the entire force was ordered to the court house yard. A six-inch hose was thrust through a second story window and after ten minutes steady stream on the two Democratic candidates for Commonwealth's Attorney, the temperature was reduced, so that the crowd could escape without danger from the asphyxiating gases, which had been engendered by the contact. The married men went home and told their wives that they had been attending a holiness meeting, conducted by Billy Sunday, who had unexpectedly stopped over in Owensboro for the night. Doubtless this story, in most cases, still goes, as there was no account of the Tanner-Ringo prize fight in either the Owensboro Messenger or Inquirer.

Louisiana Aroused.

The sugar growers of Louisiana, as we learn from the New Orleans Item of recent date, have perfected a compact organization having for its object the repeal or suspension of that section of the Underwood Tariff law which places sugar on the free list beginning May 1, 1916. United States Senator Broussard is in hearty accord with this movement. He is quoted as saying that his private advices from Washington indicate the calling of an extra session in September or October of this year for the purpose of dealing with the sugar tariff question. It is earnestly to be hoped that Senator Broussard's expectations may be realized. The Treasury needs badly the revenue which will be lost when the tariff on sugar disappears. The cane sugar growers of Louisiana, facing bankruptcy and ruin as the result of free sugar, need badly the restoration of the tariff. So do the sugar beet growers of the Northern States need protection against the flood of beet sugar that will pour into this country when the European war shall have ended and beet sugar production shall be resumed on a normal scale.

The consolidated organization in Louisiana embraces the Louisiana Cane and Sugar Association, the Sugar Planters' Association, and the American Cane Growers' Association. The united body retains the name of the American Cane Growers' Association. At its head, as president, is Charles A. Farwell, himself a cane grower and one of Louisiana's ablest business men. Under President Farwell's administration the interests of the association are certain to be pushed with vigor. He will have the co-operation of three active vice-presidents: L. M. Solat, of Dorceyville, Iberville parish, who was formerly president of the Sugar Planters' Association at Baton Rouge; F. R. Dickinson, Thihodeux, and Henry N. Pharr, Iberia parish. Joseph B. Chaffee, of New Orleans, is the secretary, and the executive committee is made up of W. B. Bloomfield, Ernest Burgulieres, Jno. M. Caffery, D. W. Pipes, C. S. Matthews, J. C. LaBourgeois, Charles Godchaux, Jules Godchaux, E. J. Gay, Damas Moerel, C. D. Kemper, James D. Hill, G. Ross Murrell, Eugene Pharr, Leonce M. Soniat, Ed P. Dickinson and Henry N. Pharr.

High Cost of Sugar.

Sugar has been selling at a higher cost to the American people since the twenty-five cent reduction in Tariff was placed on the raw material than it was with a Protective Tariff. Notwithstanding the fact that war is going on in the sugar producing countries of Europe in the past nine months one-half billion pounds have been imported. At the same time the revenue to the Government has decreased nearly twenty millions. With a further reduction of the Tariff on sugar the American grower cannot compete with the former growers, and millions of American capital will become idle, the people will pay more for sugar and the Government will be fifty millions out without gaining in any way. The people will pay double price for sugar. Higher price for the sugar and an average of fifty cents for every man, woman and child in the United States per year in making up the revenue deficiency.—Bartlesville (Okla.) Independent.

The War Embargo.

The importers are pressing the administration to do something that the administration cannot possibly do. That is, to remove the shipping embargo created by war conditions so as to permit Europe to resume in full the volume of its exports to the United States. Of course, the administration cannot do this. It cannot persuade, much less force, Great Britain to abandon her policy of keeping German and Austrian commerce off the sea. It is doubtful if Professor Wilson would want to do it if he could. As things are going, with importations materially reduced the war embargo is operating as a partial antidote to the Underwood Free-Trade Tariff. And certainly the administration needs something to take the curse off that business-wrecking measure. When importers thrive best, domestic industry thrives worst. The war embargo is not without its bright side.

GOOD ROADS

GIVEN BOOST

Well Attended And Enthusiastic
Meeting Held At Hartford
Saturday.

The second meeting of the Ohio County Good Roads Association was held at Hartford last Saturday and was well attended, despite the bad weather and "bad roads."

The meeting was presided over by the President Dr. J. O. McKinney, who made some very appropriate remarks at the opening. Preceding the meeting and after adjournment some fine music was rendered by the Taylor Mines and Simmons Cornet bands, which contributed to the enthusiasm and enjoyment of the meeting.

Speeches were made by Mr. W. W. Browder, Hon. R. E. Lee Simmerman, Dr. E. W. Ford, and Mr. Orville Taylor, along lines looking to the accomplishment of the aims of the organization, and all were well received. Mr. J. H. Barnes, Beaver Dam, was unanimously elected as Treasurer of the Association. A Vice President was selected from each precinct. The following were added to the Executive Committee: M. M. Bardwell, H. P. Taylor, R. E. Lee Simmerman and C. M. Barnett. An invitation to hold the next meeting at Fordsville was unanimously accepted and the date fixed for Saturday, August 14.

This movement has gotten a splendid start and it should not be allowed to lag. Much interest is being manifested. The following is a list of those who have become members of the Association and have paid their dollar as the nominal fee:

Those who have joined the Association and paid the fee of one dollar, to date, are as follows:

Beaver Dam—Otho Dexter, W. O. Liles, Vilas Peters, J. D. Williams, J. V. Fentress, Luther Chinn, E. R. Taylor, Richard H. Taylor, Martha Plener, Travis N. Davis, Fred Stanley, John Arbuckle, H. L. Estimates 21,770,000 Men At War.

Berlin, July 22.—In justification of the superlative adjectives that are applied to the present war, William Michaelis has compiled figures in Over Land and Sea, showing just how big the war is.

He estimates that 21,770,000 men stand opposed to each other—12,820,000 on the side of the Allies and 8,930,000 for Germany, Austria and Turkey. On the naval side, his estimates are as follows:

	Germany	Allies, et al.
Line ships	113	56
Big cruisers	87	17
Small cruisers	128	56
Torpedo boats	704	358
Submarines	179	40
Miscellaneous	231	139

*Number new boats unknown.

The area of the countries ranged against Germany, exclusive of Italy, he finds to be 67,000,000 square kilometers with an aggregate population

O'REAR & WILLIAMS
Frankfort, Ky.

June 23, 1915.

Hon. J. M. Perkins,
Frankfort, Kentucky.

My dear Mr. Perkins:

I am glad to endorse your candidacy for Auditor of Public Accounts, for the reason that I believe you are a man of upright character, liberal views, good sound sense, and have had a wide public experience that in every way fits you for the office to which you aspire.

I know you to be a self made man, and one who has the confidence of all those with whom you have come in contact in a business way, as well as the confidence of the community in which you live.

For the office which you seek, where honesty, sobriety, business experience and sound judgment count for so much, you are, I believe, in every way qualified.

Your service to your party ought to, and I dare say will, place you in a commanding position to insure their confidence and support. With best wishes for your success, I am,

Very truly yours,

of 800,000,000. Germany and her allies on the other hand have a territory of 6,000,000 square kilometers, and a population of 150,000,000 persons.

The daily cost of the war to the ten nations now taking part in places at 169,000,000 marks ($42,250,000) and he estimates that up to the first of April the total cost of the war was 40,000,000,000 marks ($10,000,000,000). Italy again excepted, he placed the annual cost of such a war at $15,000,000,000.

It would take 6,000,000 of the huge 1,000-mark bank notes to pay this cost, and these notes, stacked up one on top of the other, would make a pile 20,000 feet, almost four miles, in height. In gold this same sum would weigh 24,000,000 kilograms (52,912,800 pounds) whereas the entire gold production of the entire world during the past 500 years has amounted to but 15,000,000 kilograms.

The daily war costs for the German Empire he places at 33,000,000 marks ($8,250,000) and only forty days of this conflict cost as much as the whole Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71. The cost to England exclusive of the colonies, is about the same, and three months of this war cost Great Britain as much as the Boer War, lasting two years and seven months. France spends a little more daily.

Notice to Teachers.

An examination will be held in Hartford, on July 31st, 1915, to determine the appointment of students to the State University for this scholastic year. The examination will be written and will embrace the following subjects: American History and Civics, Algebra, Plane Geometry, English, Latin and German. Said examination is open to all persons between the ages of 14 and 24 years.

Sincerely yours,

OZNA SHULTS, S. S. O. C.

Tariff and Politics.

Here and there you hear prominent Democrats remark that the Tariff should be taken out of politics. Yes, that would be a fine thing for the Democratic party. It is evident that since the second trial at a Free-Trade program in 20 years these gentlemen are beginning to see the "handwriting on the wall." They are coming to recognize that the Free-Trade program is bad business, and now they advocate the taking of the Tariff out of politics.—Carrollton Mo.) Republican Record.

Messrs. Ringo and Tanner, Democratic candidates for Commonwealth's Attorney, spoke to a small crowd at Beaver Dam Tuesday afternoon. The speeches were tame and aroused no particular interest, as everybody expected something warm. They are filling appointments at a number of points in the county this week.

Notice.
We have leased the flour mill of the Hartford Mill Co. Have employed a first-class miller and as soon as we can get the mill thoroughly rehailed and equipped, we will be in position to do custom grinding and do a general milling business. Give us a trial and we will convince you that there is no better flour. The style of the new business is Ellis Flour Mill, we will continue the Feed and Produce business at our old stand.

Court Notes.
Commonwealth vs. Bruno Frey charged with having intoxicating liquor in his possession for the purpose of sale, tried in County Court last Friday, verdict of guilty and fined $100 and ten days in jail. It is understood an appeal will be taken to Circuit Court. If the verdict of the lower court is sustained the nine barrels of wine which is in charge of Sheriff Keown, will be destroyed.

The following defendants have been arrested during the past week by the Sheriff of Ohio county on warrants charging them with confederating and banding together for the purpose of intimidating: Eugene Allen, William Combs, Jerry Clark, Everett Webster, John Frank Daugherty and Henderson Stearnsman. The examining trial of the defendant, Jerry Clark, is set for August 31, 1915. The other defendants waived examining trial.

Idabella Daugherty Lindsey was arrested by the Sheriff and brought before Judge Wilson on the charge of concealing the birth of her bastard child. Examining trial is set for to-day.

Notice.
The Ohio County Union A. S. of E., is called to meet at the court house in Hartford, Saturday, July 31st, at 10 a. m., to consider matters of very great importance to the members.

Mysterious Chimney Swift.
Much has been learned about migration but much yet remains to be learned, and the following is one of the most curious and interesting of the unsolved problems. The chimney swift is one of the most abundant and best-known birds of Eastern United States. With troops of fledglings catching their winged prey as they go, and lodging by night in tall chimneys, the flocks drift slowly South joining with other bands until on the northern coast of the Gulf of Mexico they become an innumerable host. Then they disappear. Did they drop into the water or hibernate in the mud, as was believed of old, their obliteration could not be more complete. In the last week in March a joyful twitting for over a week announces their return to the gulf coast, but their hiding place during the intervening five months is still the swift's secret.

American Note to Germany to Reiterate Former Claims.

Washington, July 21.—The United States has decided to inform Germany that further loss of American lives is the result of German submarine warfare in contravention of the principles of international law will be regarded as an "unfriendly act." The discussion of principles is virtually ended. The American Government now will warn Germany of the interpretation it will place on future transgressions of American rights.

In the new note the United States assumes that Germany already has admitted the principle that passengers must be removed to a place of safety before destroying an unresisting merchantman as a prize.

Taking the position, therefore, that the two Governments are agreed in principle, the United States views it as incumbent upon Germany to make her submarine practice conform with the accepted principles of international law. Any deviation in actual practice resulting in the loss of American lives, it is pointed out, will be viewed as an unfriendly act.

Power Farming.
It is here. As soon as the farmer of the Southwest is personally convinced that the tractor does the work of his mules, and more, he buys one. If the manufacturers are "up with their orders" so that they can supply him.

A few years ago there were only big tractors and only the farmer with hundreds of acres could afford one. Now there are small tractors that are in reach of a greatly multiplied number of farmers, and manufacturers are promising tractors of still other sizes and capacities that will make them practical for every farm regardless of the acreage.

An efficient tractor reduces the cost of tilling the soil by one-third to one-half. It is on the job when wanted, is tireless, not susceptible to heat, cold or pestiferous insects, and requires attention and feed only when at work. In addition to the work a mule can do, it supplies power for cutting feed, threshing and grinding grain, sawing wood, pumping water, and other similar farm operations.

By removing drudgery and adding interest the small tractor is enormously increasing the desirability and attractiveness of life on the farm. It is putting farming on the same progressive level with other industries. It is bringing to the farmer the full fascination of smooth-running efficient machinery, and is already beginning to hold our young men on the farm.

HARTFORD MILL CO.

Must Face Worse Condition.
In his remarks at a luncheon given him by the Chamber of Commerce of Harrisburg, Pa., June 18, George W. Perkins emphasized the fact that such prosperity as the country is now having is to a considerable extent on a false basis; a prosperity "built up at the expense of our fellowmen who are suffering under the affliction of the frightful European war and who are so situated that they must of necessity come to us for the various wares we have to sell." This, said Mr. Perkins, is a kind of prosperity which Americans do not altogether enjoy. They would be willing to relinquish it if by so doing the dreadful slaughter in Europe could be stopped. But, "when that day comes we will find ourselves confronted with the problem of doing business under the Wilson Tariff. Every well informed business man knows that before this war broke out we had gathered considerable downward momentum in the business world under the Wilson Tariff; that had it not been for the war we would by this time have been flat on our industrial backs because of the Wilson Tariff; yet the Wilson administration which gave us this Tariff is proclaiming that the war and not the Wilson Tariff caused the acute business troubles of recent months, and that if it were not for the war prosperity would be with us in greater abundance than it is. There never was a more absolute false doctrine preached, and if the European war ends before the Wilson Tariff is changed we will find ourselves, in a short time, facing the same conditions that existed when the war broke out, facing and struggling with the same Tariff problems."

Yes, and worse problems, too; for when the war is over Europe will not buy of us any more war supplies, and will be too poor to buy of us anything like the quantities of any kind of exports which we have sold abroad in normal peace conditions. Not only that; Europe with a purchasing power greatly diminished by the impoverishment caused by the war, will not be able to consume anything like the normal proportion of its own industrial products, and will dump vast quantities of the industrial surplus on the American markets. With our own bars let down by the Underwood Free-Trade Tariff, the United States must then face conditions far worse than those which prevailed prior to the breaking out of the European war.

Girls As Canners.
No better examples for conservation could be cited than the girls' canning clubs that have been organized and instructed in most of the states of the South and Southwest. The lessons of thrift and economy impressed upon the minds of these young girls cannot fail to be of great benefit to those of them that take upon themselves the responsibilities of keeping homes. The value of the information given to the girls will not be confined to the members of the canning clubs, but it will also help many mothers who have had meager advantages for the duties of preparing the foods and saving the surplus. Many of the club members will be a messenger to carry inspiration to the home and it is not difficult to see the influence of such work on society.

The problem of saving the waste is of paramount importance. The products we permit to waste because of poor markets amount to an enormous sum every year. Fruits and vegetables are perishable and the local markets can use only a small per cent of what is produced annually. Canning is a means of conserving the food by saving waste. That many farmers have to avail themselves of the opportunity to save by canning is sadly true. By teaching the girls and giving the mothers where canning has not been practiced a chance to learn, the department of agriculture under lady agents is rendering valuable service.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury
as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

War And Why.
The first wars were fought for food.
The second wars were fought for revenge.
The third wars were fought for women.
The fourth wars were fought for religion.
The fifth wars were fought for conquest.
The sixth wars were fought for aggrandizement.
The seventh wars were fought for liberty.
For all of most of these things, save the last.—The Dallas Democrat.

Civilizing The Blueberry.
The blueberry hitherto known only as a wild fruit—will soon be offered to gardeners.
It will appear as a cultivated plant—this novelty being derived from seeds and cuttings of a few widely scattered, large-fruited bushes found by long search among the hills of New England.
Thousands of the improved blueberry plants are now being grown in the government greenhouses at Washington, and the fruits of some of them are as much as seven-eighths of an inch in diameter.

BASE BALL DOPE

Rockport Defeats McHenry.
Rockport defeated McHenry Sunday by the score of 3 to 1. It was a pitchers battle between Reneer and Thorpe. Reneer getting the best. Reneer was invincible in the pinches. Thorpe pitched well although touched up for 13 safeties, he kept them well scattered. Battery for Rockport, Reneer and N. McDougall; McHenry, Thorpe and Thorpe. Feature of the game, Reneer's pitching and N. McDougall batting, getting 5 hits out of as many times up.

The County Fair.
The time is at hand for the season of community, county and sectional fairs. The boys are grooming their pig, calf or colt; the girls and women are getting ready their needlework, preserves and jellies; the men are selecting their corn, oats, hays and other crops and livestock for the exhibits. At the same time the various managements are arranging for the "special attractions."

Where the community or county fair is well managed it performs two or three definite services. It affords a few days of jolly recreation for old and young, and to many on the farm comes as a sort of vacation. It gives the people of the county or community opportunity for social mingling, to get acquainted, and to swap experiences. It brings together a comprehensive exhibit of its territory's resources, inspiring the whole population to greater and more intelligent effort.

When such a fair falls usually it is because of a wrong motive somewhere. Most wrecks have occurred on the rock of "money making." A fair association is organized and stock sold on the promise of dividends. The entertainments and premiums are planned to allow a margin of profit. The whole institution is looked on by its promoters as a money making proposition and is operated as such for its stockholders, and the general public is not much interested in its success.

But it doesn't make money. Fairs never do. Its expenses may be less this year than its income, but the difference—and more—is needed for improvements next year. Fairs ought not to be expected to make money. If they render the services mentioned above they are performing a function worthy of perpetuation.

Fairs are and must be for the public good. They are co-operative institutions that have stockholders solely for purposes of financing and management. Any pronounced element of selfishness in their management destroys their usefulness and cuts short their life.

A Death Bed Confession—The Sugar Duties.

The United States government ends its fiscal year creditably if not brilliantly.

During the twelve months expenses exceeded revenue by $53,864,000, but the income tax collections proved larger than had been anticipated, collections from import duties are increasing slowly and internal revenue receipts are holding their own. There is a comfortable balance in the treasury, and there will be no need to sell Panama bonds at this time, and the close of the fiscal year just begun should show this country in a good position financially if proper economy is shown by Congress when it meets in December.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington, after referring to the financial exhibit as shown at the end of the year, says:

"With the end of the war apparently remote, it is well known that many Treasury officials are convinced that it will be necessary for Congress to restore the old duty on sugar at the next session. Sugar goes on the free list next year, whereas in the days when it paid duty it brought in a revenue of about $60,000,000."

Under the Underwood bill, the duty on sugar was reduced and the reduction was made effective at once. It was then provided that sugar should come in free after three years' time.

It seems plain that the duty on sugar should be restored, to continue at least so long as the war does. It is an open question if it would not be wiser to restore the sugar duties and continue them permanently.

A sugar duty is not in contradiction to a tariff for revenue only. It affords a modicum of protection to beet growers in the West and cane growers in Louisiana, but the amount of sugar required by this country is so much larger than this country can possibly produce that the tariff on sugar can be maintained because of the revenue it produces.—Evening Post.

While the light holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return, and the Evening Post is the greatest old free trade sinner of them all, yet it had to acknowledge the corn.

You would not look for a stronger statement than the above in the New York Tribune or the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The Post did its best to destroy the sugar industry, but it was forced to acknowledge the mistake in placing it on the free list.

We doubt, however, if it would have made the acknowledgment if its friend Mr. McAdoo had not been in sore straits for money to meet the fast accumulating bills, and rather than sell bonds as Mr. Cleveland was forced to do, in addition to a war revenue bill, the Evening Post is willing to restore the duty on sugar.

As early as 1840 we produced in this country a little more than 120 million pounds of cane sugar, and at that time we did not produce one pound of beet sugar. In 1860 we produced a little less than 231 million pounds of cane sugar and not one pound of beet sugar. In 1873 our cane sugar had dropped to 134 million pounds and we were producing a little over one million pounds of beet sugar. In 1890 we were producing 301 million pounds of cane sugar and nearly five million pounds of beet sugar. In 1900 we were producing 322 million pounds of cane sugar and 163 million pounds of beet sugar, in 1910 we produced 728 million pounds of cane sugar and 1,009 million pounds of beet sugar.

When the Republican party took charge of the country and placed a tariff on sugar to protect it against the importation of sugar abroad, we were not producing a pound of beet sugar, but if you will watch Republican tariff law, you will see the sugar industry, both cane and beet, grow by leaps and bounds until in 1910 we produced 728 million pounds of beet sugar. If the poor old free trade Post could always have had its way, we would not to-day be producing one pound of beet sugar in the United States, and very little cane sugar, we would be at the mercy of a foreign market for practically all the sugar we consume, and as Germany is the largest producer of sugar in the world, and Australia the next in the production of beet sugar, many of us would be taking ours straight, but for the glorious results of a Republican tariff law that the poor old free trade Post has been doing its best to defeat.

In 1910 Michigan produced 93,934 tons of beet sugar, Wisconsin 16,518 tons, Colorado 129,882 tons, Utah 42,187 tons, Idaho 17,851 tons, California 113,744 tons, all other 36,479 tons of 2,240 pounds to the ton. Yet, up to last week the Post has been forever fighting on sugar. It was willing to destroy that great industry in the West, as well as the cane industry of Louisiana, just because it belongs to the old Cobden Club free trade school, and could not, and would not, surrender its convictions on a question that three-fourths of the American people long since conceded to be correct.

In 1912 there were 75 beet sugar factories in the United States, located in eighteen States. In 1911 these factories purchased 4,800,000 tons of beets, grown on 480,000 acres of land and manufactured 1,200,000,000 or 600,000 tons of white granulated sugar and we have over 200,000,000 acres of sugar or beet growing land in the West.

If you will keep the Republican party in power and suppress all such free trade journals as the Evening Post, we will soon be producing all the sugar in this country that we consume, and will never be at the mercy of a foreign country.—The Kentucky Sun.

Tired, Aching Muscles Relieved.
Hard work, over-exertion, mean stiff, sore muscles. Sloan's Liniment lightly applied, a little quiet, and your soreness disappears like magic. "Nothing ever helped like your Sloan's Liniment. I can never thank you enough," writes one grateful user. Stops suffering, aches and pains. An excellent counter-irritant, better and cleaner than mustard. All Druggists, 25c. Get a bottle to-day. Penetrates without rubbing.

What Our Country Is.

Have you not learned that not stocks or bonds or stately houses or lands or products of mill or field are our country? It is a spiritual thought that is in our minds. It is the flag and what it stands for; it is the fireside and the home; it is the high thoughts that are in the heart, born of the inspiration which comes of the story of the fathers, the martyrs to liberty; it is the graveyard into which our grateful country has gathered the dust of those who died. Here in these things is that thing we love and call our country rather than anything that can be touched or handled. Let me hold the thought—that we owe a duty to our country in peace as well as in war. Perhaps never have we been so well equipped for war as now, and yet we have never seen a time in our history when our people were so smitten with a love of peace.—Benjamin Harrison.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

HEIGHTS AND WEIGHTS OF BOYS.

The Health Department has weighed and measured 10,000 New York school children who, from July 13, 1914, to April 13, 1915, asked for working papers.

The boys of English, Irish or Scotch stock weighed, on the average, 102.44 pounds. They were the lightest of all in the group.

The boys of Italian stock weighed 104.61 pounds.

The native American boys of American-born parents weighed 105.61 pounds.

The boys of German stock weighed 106.62 pounds.

Those of Jewish stock weighed 106.92 pounds.

The Russian, Polish or Bohemian boys weighed 108.13 pounds. They were the heaviest of all.

In the matter of height the German boys were the tallest, with an average of 62.39 inches.

The native American boys of American born parents averaged 62.38 inches, the English, Scotch or Irish 62.21, the Russian, Polish or Bohemian 61.87, the Jewish 60.93, the Italian 60.30.

The composite average of all the girls was less than that of the boys, but they were a fraction heavier than the boys. The Russian, Polish and Bohemian girls were the tallest. The German girls were the heaviest.

Merchandise Charged at Regular Prices During This Sale

CARSON & COMPANY
(INCORPORATED)
Hartford, Kentucky.

Profit-Sharing Sale

BEGAN SATURDAY, JULY 17th Closes Saturday, July 31st.

You Must Pay Cash or Produce Checks to Share in the Profits. Merchandise Charged Will Be at Regular Prices.

THE PROFIT-SHARING SEASON IS AT HAND.

The Sale that everybody waits for will be launched next Saturday with a host of Bargains that will place any former efforts in the background. Our entire stock has been ransacked from every department in this mammoth institution for every odd lot and these lots have been priced with but one object in view and that is to price them so low you can't keep from buying them.

All strictly Summer Merchandise, the Profit-Sharing knife has cut the big end off on your side. In fact you get all the profits and more, too. Again we wish to remind you that our buyer spent a week in the big markets, buying good merchandise at bargain prices. He secured thousands of yards of Loom-End Calicoes, Lawns, Gingham, Shirtings, Crashes, Thin Wash Goods, Skirting, Waistings, Long Cloths and Percales. When you see this stupendous showing of high class every-day necessities and note the prices in comparison, you will at once realize that the statements we make in this ad. fall away below the actual conditions.

The interest of yourself and family should be your first and foremost consideration. You should make your dollars buy as many necessities as possible. WILL YOU DO IT? Will you be here on the opening morning of this Sale ready to pick up the good things you can use? BE ALERT. BE WIDE-A-WAKE. Be on hand Saturday morning. It will pay you.

OUR SECOND SEMI-ANNUAL SALE

Beginning July 30 to August 7.

We are now going in on our second Semi-Annual Sale and we intend to make it interesting and profitable to every one who needs anything in our line. We are going to make a general clean-up as far as possible and the prices will be in line with the object in view. The larger portion of summer is yet to come and you will need these goods. They are all absolutely new and seasonable. You will not find an opportunity again this summer to get such extra quality goods at such low prices. Our stock being all new and serviceable, gives you an added advantage besides the low prices quoted. Pick out what you need, come in and let us show you. We will be glad to see and talk with you, whether you buy anything or not. Remember the date of Sale---it lasts just so long. And don't forget the place.

LATEST WAR NEWS
Monday.

United States.—President Wilson will return to Washington to-day and will collaborate with Secretary of State Lansing in completing the note to Germany respecting submarine warfare. It is known that the President and Secretary Lansing have practically made up their minds that a definite statement of what the consequences of further violation of American rights would be will be a feature of the communication.

Russia.—The Russian front, running from the Baltic to Bessarabia, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles, is being subjected to violent attacks and, according to the German report, has been pierced in places. In the Baltic provinces Gen. von Buelow has crossed the Windau River and is moving toward Itiga. Field Marshal von Hindenburg who is making his fourth attempt on Warsaw, has twice pierced the Russian lines in the Przasnysz district. Berlin yesterday celebrated the Eastern victories.

Italy.—Italian airships bombarded with effect Austrian works around Gorizia. Infantry fighting for the possession of slopes along the Andras Valley, culminating in bayonet attacks, resulted in the capture of the Austrian advance intrenchments.

France.—Official reports disagree as to results of artillery battles in France, the Paris statement claiming that the Germans used burning liquids in the Argonne to little effect and were forced to retire.

Tuesday.

United States.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing have prepared a note on submarine warfare to be submitted to the Cabinet to-day. The contents of the communication have been well guarded, but from semi-official sources and from deduction it is stated that it will make no mention of the Orduna case, only dealing with issues already pending with Germany. The note will close every loophole through which Germany may escape from making a "yes" or "no" answer, it is stated, and will be so final in its terms as to close further discussion and to rout talk of mediation.

England.—Labor troubles are affecting the nations at war. The South Wales coal miners refuse to meet the wishes of the British Government. David Lloyd-George has gone to Cardiff to make a strenuous effort to have the men compose their differences.

Germany.—The officials of the Krupp gun works at Essen are reported to have granted some of the demands of their dissatisfied employees. Military authorities have issued a warning that drastic measures will be employed.

Italy.—The Italian cruiser Giuseppe Garibaldi was torpedoed and sunk by an Austrian submarine near Cattaro. The crew jumped into the sea and most of them were saved.

Russia.—Having been unable to straighten out their line by an advance through East Prussia in the north and Galicia in the south, with the two ends of the Germans are closing about Warsaw, the entire Russian line is threatened, along with the Polish capital. The British press, believing the task before the Russian army is almost impossible to perform in the face of the colossal German movement, is already discounting the fall of Warsaw.

The gradual evacuation of Warsaw has been ordered by Russia, according to a dispatch from Budapest.

Wednesday.

Teutonic Allies.—Two pivotal points in the Teutonic drive in Poland have been turned by the Teutonic Allies. Ostrolenka, a stronghold on the Narew River, seventy miles northeast of Warsaw, and Radom, fifty-seven miles to the south of that town and thirty miles from Ivangorod another of the great fortresses which girdle the Polish capital, have fallen, according to Berlin and Vienna.

Russia.—Petrograd admits further advances for Russia's adversaries in the region of Riga and Shavil. Northwestern Russia, the capture of trenches by them in the Suwalki region and the extension of the Austro-German lines on the right bank of the Bug. Russian torpedo boat destroyers in the Black Sea have sunk a fleet of fifty-nine Turkish sailing vessels bearing cargoes of war materials for the Turkish army in the Caucasus, according to a news agency dispatch from Sebastopol.

Italy.—Progress for the Italians on the Isonzo front, especially on the plateau of Carso, is claimed by Rome. The Italian forces have been directing their attack against the bridge head at Gorizia.

England.—The occupation of 150 yards of German trenches east of Ypres, after the explosion of a British mine, is reported by Field Marshal Sir John French. An agreement to settle the great coal strike in South Wales has been reached.

Thursday.

Germany.—In the Baltic region the Russians are withdrawing before the advancing Germans, who are carrying additional towns and strategic positions. The last entrenchments of the Russians to the west of Shavil, in the Province of Kovno, have been stormed and now are in German hands. In the Kovno-Marlampol district a number of Russian positions, lying one behind the other, have been taken.

Austria.—Very heavy fighting is in progress on the Austro-Italian frontier, the central point of the struggle being around Gorizia. The Austrian War Office tells of the capture of Monte San Michele by the Italians, but adds that the Austrian reserves were brought up and they regained the heights. There have been heavy losses on both sides, and the full force of Austrian resistance has evidently been brought into play.

United States.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing last night completed the note to Germany and it will be dispatched to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to-day. Although the assertion that any further transgression of American rights will be regarded as an "unfriendly act" may cause a break with Germany, the President believes that some other solution will be found.

France.—France and Belgium remain comparatively quiet. The air-men and artillery have been busy at several points, but the infantry is resting or preparing for new attacks.

Turkey.—Turkish envoys are said to have reached Switzerland for the purpose of conferring with members of the Triple Entente on terms for a separate peace.

Why This Boy and Sister Left Home.
In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, a contributor writes an interesting article showing how motor cars affect farm life. He tells the story of a prosperous farmer in Eastern Kansas who had two children—a son and daughter both of whom left home and took unimportant positions in cities. Their reasons for leaving home are presented in the two following letters which they wrote to their mother.

"I wanted pretty things, mother," wrote Mary, a year after she had quit the old farm home. "Everything was so old-fashioned at home, and you and father were so busy you wouldn't have the house fixed any different."

"Jim's letter is a little longer, and more detailed:

"The other boys had a chance to get out around the country, even to drive to Ottawa now and then, behind a good team or in an auto, but you know as well as I do, mother, that Mary and I had no such chance. The trouble was it was all work and money-getting. When crops were good, father got more stock or more machinery. He didn't get the things we craved, the things that would have kept us on the farm. I can remember when Bert Jackson's father bought an auto. I would make fun of it today. It wasn't much more than a gasoline stove on a truck, but it ran and it took the whole family all over the country, to picnics, for pleasure rides on hot nights, to town on business, or for a lark. I used to stand and watch it go by when I was plowing or working around, and while I guess it was only a 'one-lunger,' and wheezed and smelled frightfully, it looked awfully good to me then. But would father hear of us getting one? Not on your life."

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework. I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off. I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it. After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely. I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether." Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution. Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy. Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Worming Process Also Employed in Warfare.

Paint as a weapon in combatting the roundheaded apple tree borer is the latest advice from Federal experts to owners of orchards.

The roundheaded apple tree borer, the most destructive of a number of similar pests, lays its eggs in or under the bark of apple trees. After hatching the larvae feed upon the inner bark and wood to such extent that the tree is seriously weakened or killed. The pest is found over the whole of the eastern portion of the United States as far west as Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. In addition to fruit trees, it feeds on service, wild crab and mountain ash trees, which makes it advisable for orchardists to remove these varieties or a distance of at least a hundred yards from their orchard.

The female lays her eggs, one at a time, in an incision she has made in the bark, usually just above the surface of the ground. About fifteen or twenty days later the eggs hatch and the larvae appear. When full grown these are nearly an inch and a half in length. The first attack the inner bark, eating out broad, more or less circular galleries and thrusting out thru small holes in the bark castings which form little heaps of reddish wood fragments around the base.

During the winter the borers are quiescent but early in the following spring they attack the solid wood, while some of them work their way up the trunk. These last spend one more winter in the tree and then, having passed thru the pupa stage, dig their way out and emerge as adult beetles. Three years are required for the insect to complete its development from egg to adult.

Ordinarily, the beetle lives about forty or fifty days. It is about three-fourths of an inch in length, light brown in color above, with two broad white bands, joined in front, extending the full length of the back; the underparts and front of the head are white. The females rarely fly any considerable distance, so that if the immediate vicinity of an orchard can be kept free from them, there is little danger of a serious infestation.

The most common method of ridding an orchard of these pests is to cut away the bark sufficiently to trace the burrows made by the borer. A hook wire is then inserted into the burrow and the insect pulled out. If made with care, the wound in the tree caused by this process will heal readily. The castings at the base of the tree serve as an indication of the presence of the borers. Where the burrows are curved or obstructed in some way so that the wire can not be inserted, cotton batting dipped in carbon bisulphid should be inserted, and the hole the plugged with moist earth. The gas from the carbon bisulphid will penetrate all parts of the burrow and kill the borer.

In addition to worming, as this process is called, paint is often used to prevent the beetles laying their eggs. Pure white lead and raw linseed oil, mixed rather thick, will not injure the trees, and when applied to young, smooth bark, will form a protective coat during the egg-laying season. It is probable that this is a more effective method than wrapping the trees with building paper, cotton batting, cloth or other materials sometimes used for this purpose. Before painting, however, the bark should be removed from the base of the tree for a depth of from three to four inches. The surface of the trunk thus exposed should be first scraped and painted and the earth then replaced. This is necessary, for the beetle occasionally lays her eggs under instead of above the ground.

Travelling Man's Experience.

"In the summer of 1888 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me from four a. m. to 6 p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and take no substitute. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. Ireland, Louisville, Ky. Obtainable everywhere.

Alfalfa in Kentucky.

We have said before that, in our estimation, alfalfa is one of the greatest boons that has come to Kentucky in many years. Growing alfalfa means the best kind of farming because, to grow it, the land must be supplied with two elements that are lacking in nearly all Kentucky soils, good as they are, lime and phosphate. When our lands are full of these two mineral plant foods and legumes grown to supply the nitrogen, then we can grow any crop in abundance, and alfalfa is the best of the legumes the heaviest yielder and the most lasting.

We expect to see 10,000 acres of alfalfa sowed in Kentucky this season. The farmers are awakening to its possibilities. Jefferson County will put in 1,000 acres alone. The farmers who have a field of it are most enthusiastic, but it is hard to convince many good men, because of the expense attached in preparing the land. We should remember that, though the work and cost are considerable, they are not for a one-year crop, but for five or ten years and in the meantime the profits are greater than any other field crop, with hardly an exception.

August 20th is the time to sow alfalfa in this State, so, farmers, get your land ready, buy your ground limestone or get a crusher, order your acid phosphate and engage the seed. Consult your county agent or Prof. T. R. Bryant, Lexington, so as to secure inoculation and furnish instructions. Take courage and plant alfalfa. You will never regret it.—Kentucky Farming.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted for over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever. Obtainable everywhere. m

Now The Dasheen.

The "dasheen,"—long cultivated in Japan—is beginning to be grown on a considerable scale in the United States, and at the present time may be found in some few city markets. Its young shoots are delicious in salads, and prepared in a variety of other ways. At its roots develop large tuber-like "corms," which, very rich in starch are likewise edible.

The plant bureau is even now engaged in bread making experiments with them, the corms being ground to flour. Apparently we are to have a new kind of bread from the dasheen, which may obtain widespread popularity.

Peas, for canners use, have been persuaded to ripen nearly all of their pods simultaneously, so far as to require but one harvesting. A special variety has even been created that yields nothing but little peas—the "petit pois" so much prized by epicures. Tomatoes of the "beefsteak" type, with solid pulp and a few seeds have been brought to a high state of perfection.

Road Construction Letting.

Sealed proposals addressed to the Fiscal Court of Ohio County will be received up to 2 o'clock p. m., July 27, 1915, when they will be publicly opened and read, for the improvement of the Hartford and Greenville road between Hartford and Sta. 167 plus 20.7 in Ohio county, state of Kentucky.

The work as described and shown in the plans and specifications to be seen at the County Court Clerk's office at the court house in Hartford, Kentucky, will be known as the Hartford and Centertown road as shown on general drawing.

A single bid is to be submitted for the whole work, except where otherwise permitted by the specifications.

Bids must be for work to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications, approved by the Fiscal Court and the Commissioner of Public Roads, and on file at the court house at Hartford, Ky.

The Fiscal Court of Ohio County expressly reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Before contracts are binding on first parties they must receive the approval of the Commissioner of Public Roads.

Each bid shall be accompanied by cash or a certified check payable at sight to the order of the County Treasurer for 5 per cent of the amount of the proposal; which check shall be held until the execution of the contract.

Before the contract is awarded, the successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish a bond for a sum of dollars equal to the amount of the contract for the faithful performance of work in accordance with the aforesaid plans and specifications.

All work is to be done under the direction and supervision of the Commissioner of Public Roads.

BARNETT & SON, Agents.

Cost of Living Higher.

Facts cannot be overcome, as the Administration at Washington is beginning to realize. In 1912 Mr. Wilson, then a candidate for President, repeatedly asserted in campaign speeches that the high cost of living was due to the protective tariff, and that when the Democrats came into power they would reduce the cost of living by changing the tariff. He also asserted that appropriations would be reduced by stopping waste, and that the trusts would be curbed and the currency reformed. The Democrats now have had full control of the government for over two years, and what have they accomplished?

The department of labor, in full control of the Democrats, has just issued a bulletin giving the result of its inquiries as to the cost of living, which it says was higher in 1914 than before. The cost of filling the market basket of the average workman's family was $6.68 higher in 1914 than in 1913 under the protective tariff. Fifteen articles, involving about two-thirds of the expenditure for food by the average workman's family, were taken into consideration in obtaining the result. There is nothing new in this report. Every well informed person knew that prices were higher, despite the great army of workmen thrown out of employment by the free trade party. The situation is much worse, so far as food prices are concerned, at the present time, than was the case in 1914. Prices have continued to ascend so that many families are forced to give up the use of meats and many other things they were formerly accustomed to use regularly. The department of labor does not give all of the facts and it makes the best possible showing for the Democrats. But it has to acknowledge that the cost of living was not increased by the protective tariff. The increase took place in all countries. The prophecies of President Wilson and his followers on that subject have failed of fulfillment, and they now have to acknowledge the fact.

The same thing was true in regard to appropriations, which have been the largest, under Democratic rule, in the history of the nation, while taxes correspond. The trusts are flourishing just the same as ever, excepting for the lessening business caused by Democratic incompetency at Washington. The currency is the same, and the banking laws have been changed largely in the line laid out by the Republicans. In fact, the free trade party has not redeemed its pre-election promises. It has made things much worse, checked development and growth, and is now forced to acknowledge that many of its campaign assertions were unfounded.—The Protectionist.

Ball Bearing; Long Wearing

is invariably followed by the discovery that the bills for ribbons are much less than before. A large corporation recently found that its ribbon expense was cut in two. This is not an accident. It is the result of the mechanical construction that makes the L. C. Smith & Bros. cheapest to maintain.

The ball bearings give light touch and eliminate pounding impact. The ribbon is actuated by the carriage, not the typebar. The ribbon mechanism is automatic, so that the ribbon reverses at the instant the end is reached and without added strain.

Low ribbon cost; low cost of maintenance and the highest efficiency—these are guaranteed to L. C. Smith & Bros. users.
